Multi-Agency Training Days: Preventing Child Sexual Abuse - Making it Everybody's Business

Stop it Now! England plans to organise and deliver 30 local, low-cost, multi-agency training days during 2011-2013, as part of the Department for Education's drive to improve frontline practice with regard to safeguarding. These events can accommodate up to 110 multi-agency representatives and typically cost around £60 per head, depending on location and venue costs.

We can cover up to four specialist topics during the day, which increase the delegate's understanding of child sexual abuse and its prevention. Training content can be tailored to suit the needs of the particular audience and is delivered by experienced LFF practitioners.

In the past we have partnered with various organisations and statutory bodies to deliver these events, including Police, LSCBs and Early Years Services.

If you would like to see an event in your area, whether or not you would like to help organise or host it, we would like to hear from you.

Quotes from those who have attended a day:

- "Informative and relevant to my role"
- "Will use new knowledge in future work"
- "Should be compulsory for all who work with children"
- "Valuable and educational, well presented"
- "An eye opener to the facts and myths of sexual abuse"

Who we are

Stop it Now! UK and Ireland is a child sexual prevention campaign. We work across the country to ensure that parents, carers and professionals are as best placed as they can be to protect children from sexual abuse. We operate a confidential, freephone Helpline and email service (0808 1000 900 / help@stopitnow.org.uk). The campaign is managed by the Lucy Faithfull Foundation.

The Lucy Faithfull Foundation (LFF)

LFF is a leading child protection charity working to reduce the risk of children being sexually abused. It believes that child sexual abuse is preventable, not inevitable, and provides a unique set of services which enhance community protection against child sexual abuse. It aims to safeguard children and young people from abuse by collaborating with individuals and agencies to develop a more child sensitive and offender aware culture. Its staff work with adult male and female abusers, children and young people with worrying sexual behaviour, victims and families.

Details of our latest events and information on the sorts of topics we can cover can be found at www.stopitnow.org.uk.
